Gordon Urges Economic Advisors For Government

TORONTO (CP)—An economic advisory board to help control Canada's economy from the federal level was urged today by Walter L. Gordon of Toronto, chairman of the royal commission on Canada's economic prospects.

"Canadians will have to accept the fact that responsibilities for maintaining a high level of employment throughout the country and for restraining inflation must rest squarely with the federal government," he told the Ontario government's annual industrial development conference. A system was needed to coordinate spending by all three levels of government, restraining public expenditure in boom periods and stimulating it in recessions.

TOO SERBIAN COAL MINERS TRAPPED

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Rescue teams today were attempting to reach about 100 coal miners trapped 2,000 feet underground after an explosion Wednesday night in a pit in Serbia, eastern Yugoslavia. A government announcement said at least 12 miners were killed and 15 injured.

Calculations Blamed In Bridge Crash

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four engineers said Wednesday two errors in calculations caused collapse of the partly-completed Second Narrows bridge which killed 18 workmen. The mistakes were suggested in a report submitted to the Royal Commission investigating the disaster. The engineers are Ralph Freeman and J. R. H. Otter, both of London, England, and F. M. Masters and J. R. Glese of Harrisburg, Penn. The two outermost spans of the north side of the bridge over Burrard Inlet fell June 17. When the first span collapsed it pulled the concrete base at the inner end out of place, causing the second span to tumble. The Dominion Bridge Company is handling the beam work. Mr. Freeman said the errors lay in a group of stringer beams laid across pilings to act as a base for steel legs temporarily supporting the spans. He said one miscalculation resulted in the shear stress appearing to be only half as much as it should have been.

Courier Aids Police Work

Police in Kelowna reported this morning that at least one item carried in a picture on Page 3 of Tuesday's issue of The Daily Courier has been identified, and as a result a charge of theft laid against a transient. In Tuesday's paper, the Courier published a picture showing a blanket, overcoat, Indian sweater, camera and case—which police believe were stolen in the city sometime Friday night—possibly from parked cars. An unidentified Penticton resident recognized the blanket and claimed it at the police office. However, the other articles still are awaiting claims of ownership.

De Gaulle Gets Big Algerian Welcome — Will Define Policy

ALGIERS (AP)—Premier de Gaulle returned to Algeria today to inspect troops and deliver a policy statement. He was expected to spell out at least some of his plans for this troubled North African territory. A big welcome awaited him, though scattered incidents of sabotage and terrorism were staged by nationalist rebels in the country overnight. De Gaulle took a Caravelle jet airliner from Paris to Oran, in western Algeria. At Oran he boarded a smaller plane for Tizi, 120 miles southwest of Algiers. He planned to start with an inspection of troops in the Moroccan frontier area.

MIKE PEARSON APOLOGIZES FOR "STUPID" STATEMENT

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—Liberal Leader Lester Pearson apologized Wednesday night for tagging Prime Minister Diefenbaker a phony. Any such statement was due to "a little over-Liberal excitement."

He spoke to a rally audience about statements made Tuesday night in Calgary.

"In the excitement of the discussion, I am told, I called the Bill of Rights a phony. Probably I did."

"But I am also told I called Mr. Diefenbaker a phony. If I said that, I had no right to say it. The reference to Mr. Diefenbaker as being phony was a stupid statement and can be put down to a little over-Liberal excitement."

Women Urge Driving Be Cut From Schools

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A women's group told the royal commission on education Wednesday that such subjects as personal development, car driving, industrial arts and music should be dropped from the school curriculum. A brief from the Kamloops University Women's Club was one of three presented here as the Chant commission continued its hearings.

The women's club said such "frills" should be left to extra-curricular school activities of home and youth clubs. "Such modifications in the school curriculum would mean that subjects are really learnt. Thus, elementary grammar could be properly mastered in the elementary school and the present pathetic rate at which basic mathematics is taught could be greatly increased," the club's brief said. A brief from area teachers recommended that the education department discontinue giving credits for courses which are unrelated to a teacher's work.

The present instructional year, which averages 180 days, is extremely limited and the school day has been reduced to less than five hours of classroom time, said the Kamloops school trustees.

The trustees said they would like to reduce the summer vacation by two weeks and the Christmas vacation to a few days. The commission, which met in Salmon Arm Tuesday, heard there that sustained interest is needed in the schools. A brief presented by the Salmon Arm District Teachers' Association was called one of the best so far presented by the commission. The brief criticized inadequate attention to religion and philosophy and the cyclical or repetitive method of teaching courses such as English, math, science, health and personal development.

Records Topple In 2nd Meeting

NEW YORK - - - 100 100 003- 5 7 0
MILWAUKEE - - - 710 000 23x-13 15 1

Second Game: Turley, Mass (1); Kucks (1); Dickson (5); Monroe (8) and Berra. Burdette and Crandall. HR's—Mantle (2); Bauer (2); Bruton and Burdette.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Lew Burdette, still a hero, smashed a three-run homer capping a record seven-run first inning today that carried the Milwaukee Braves to a 13-5 victory over the New York Yankees and a 2-0 lead in the world series.

Burdette, the angular right-hander who whipped the Yanks three times last year, lost his scoreless inning streak at 24 to 0 with an unearned run in the first inning, and, leading 13-2, was racked for three runs in the ninth on homers by Hank Bauer and Mickey Mantle.

But that was all he lost from the touch that made him everybody's 1957 star.

He allowed 7 hits, struck out 5, walked one and retired 15 batters in order between the fourth and ninth, pitching his fourth straight complete game victory over the American League champions. And his homer, a hefty wallop over the left centre fence at the 355-foot mark with two on base, settled the issue hardly before the County Stadium crowd of 47,367 had found its seat.

Friday is an off day while the teams pack up and move to New York's Yankee Stadium for the third and fourth games—and the fifth if necessary. The Braves are expected to pitch either Carlton Willey or Bob Rush, both right-handers. The Yankees' probable pitcher is right-hander Don Larson.

FIRST INNING

New York: Burdette's first pitch to Bauer was a called strike. Bauer bounced the next pitch over second base for a single. It was the 16th consecutive series game in which he had hit safely.

McDougald, after the fourth pitch, asked plate umpire Berry to examine the ball. Berry looked at it and tossed it back to Burdette.

Mathews fielded McDougald's high hopper and threw widely to first, Bauer reaching third and McDougald second on the error.

Mantle was purposely passed, filling the bases.

Juan Pizarro, a left-hander, began warming up in the Braves' bullpen.

Howard bounced to Schoendienst, whose throw to Logan forced Mantle at second as Bauer scored and McDougald reached third.

Berra grounded into a double play, Schoendienst to Logan to Torre.

One run, one hit, one error, one left, (run unearned).

Milwaukee: Turley's first pitch to Bruton was a called strike. Bruton walloped a home run into the right field bleachers about six rows deep. It was on a 3-2 count.

Schoendienst lined a double to the fence in right, the ball bounding past Bauer.

Duke Maas, a right-hander, began warming up in the Yankee bullpen.

Mathews was called out on strikes. It was Mathews' fourth straight out of the series.

Anron singled.

Covington singled sharply to the right of second base into right centre, scoring Schoendienst and sending Anron to third.

Maas replaced Turley. Torre fled to Howard in short left. Anron broke from third but scurried back when Howard's throw came all the way to the plate without a bounce. Covington took second on the throw.

The seven runs were the most scored by a club in the first inning of any series game. The Giants scored six in the first inning on Oct. 15, 1952.

Howard crashed into the fence in a vain effort to catch Burdette's drive and injured his side.

He was replaced by Norm Siebern.

Kucks became the third Yankee pitcher in the inning.

Bruton lined to Kuck. Seven runs, five hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING

New York: Skowron fled to Bruton.

Carey struck out on three pitches.

Kubek also went down swinging.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Milwaukee: McDougald tossed out Schoendienst.

It was announced that Howard banged up his left knee crashing into the fence trying for Burdette's homer.

Mathews smashed a long double against the left centrefield fence.

McDougald threw out Aaron, Mathews advancing to third.

Covington singled to centre, scoring Mathews.

Torre bounced out, McDougald to Skowron.

One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

THIRD INNING

New York: Kucks punched a ground single to right field.

Bauer asked umpire Berry to examine the ball. Burdette

Mathews stole second, sliding under Berra's high throw to McDougald.

FIFTH INNING

New York: Logan gathered in Carey's soft liner.

Kubek grounded out, Torre to Burdette who covered first.

Murry Dickson, a right-hander, began warming up for the Yankees.

Lumpe fled to Bruton. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Milwaukee: Dickson was the fourth Yankee pitcher.

McDougald went to his right for a fine backhanded stop of Covington's sharp grounder and threw him out.

Crandall struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SIXTH INNING

New York: Bauer was called out on strikes.

McDougald popped to Schoendienst.

Milwaukee: The official attendance was 46,367. Net receipts $277,263.60. Commissioner's share $41,589.54. Players share $41,404.44. Clubs' and leagues' share $23,567.40.

Logan topped to Carey.

Carey threw out Burdette. Bruton singled to centre for his third hit of the game.

Schoendienst filed deep to Bauer.

SEVENTH INNING

New York: The lights were turned on.

Transport Board Should Grant CPA Transcontinental Flights

On October 6th the Air Transport Board will hold a meeting in Vancouver and Canadian Pacific Airlines will present its case in support of its application for a transcontinental licence.

The CPA desires to serve nine Canadian metropolitan areas (Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal). These cities account for more than 35% of the total population of Canada and for more than 45% of the country's retail sales. Approximately 50% of Canadian manufacturing is concentrated in these areas.

The population growth of the nine cities through the period from 1951 to the present has been substantially greater than the national average and a similar rate of increase is indicated for the future. The most recent figures available show the nine cities on the proposed route pattern produce approximately 65% of the total of Canadian airline passenger traffic.

The CPA's proposal is designed to give these points increased service; to cut elapsed air travel time between cities; to eliminate the present necessity of changing aircraft enroute in many instances. The CPA proposes to use aircraft carrying 80% tourist class seats, whereas today only one-third of the annual available airline seats are made up of tourist class.

The possibilities of airline competition in Canada have recently undergone a study by British economist Stephen Wheatcroft. His report, the first of its kind in Canada, was prepared at the request of the federal minister of transport.

The Wheatcroft report does not find justification of "unrestricted competition" throughout Canada at the present time from the viewpoint of desirability and economic consequences, but does suggest that competition should be introduced in a "rationed" manner regulating frequency of service.

In its summary of conclusions the report says that it is considered a valid assumption that competition will provide a strong incentive to the maintenance of a high standard of service, something the TCA now lacks. The report states that improvement of service generated by competition should produce a greater development of traffic. Competition, too, would provide an effective yardstick of comparing the available services and would provide, too, an answer to the obvious desire of the public for the opportunity of choosing which airline it will use.

The CPA was formed in 1942 and has an excellent record of service since that date. Restricted in the domestic field it operates approximately 34,000 miles of international routes to Europe, Mexico, South America, the Orient, the South Pacific, Australia, New Zealand and a 7,000-mile domestic route pattern in Canada feeding passenger traffic from off-line communities to mainline transcontinental services.

The CPA proposed pattern is essentially that the Wheatcroft report considers practicable for two airlines at this time. The sole exception is that the CPA does not ask for a Vancouver-Victoria run.

There is no doubt about the travelling Canadian public desiring better airline service. The CPA request would appear to be sound and reasonable. The company should receive a favorable hearing from the air transport board and be granted the necessary licences.

Transfer Payment Fallacy

As business slowly recovers from the recession there is certain to be a good deal of talk about why recovery is taking place and why the recession wasn't worse than it has been. Such discussion is certain to give a good deal of credit to the so-called "built-in stabilizer" of transfer payments.

Transfer payments cover a multitude of devices whereby government takes money out of the pockets of some people and transfers it to the pockets of others. The assumption implicit in the economics of transfer payments is that the recipient will spend the money, thus stimulating demand, while the involuntary donor would do nothing of the sort.

The flaw in such reasoning isn't hard to detect. It lies in the mistaken belief that consumer spending is more likely to stimulate demand than investment spending. Yet capital investment intentions, as the periodic forecasts of the department of trade and commerce show plainly enough, is looked upon even in official circles as one of the best indications of the state of the country's economic health.

Where the whole theory of transfer payments as an economic stabilizing device breaks down, however, is in the fact that need is no longer a criterion. There might be some justification for believing that a man so badly in need that he would accept a dime from a friend would spend the dime. But when the recipient of the dime, or dollars, happens to be a fellow with a steady job at good pay, the chances of him creating demand and stimulating business with money taken by a paternal government from somebody else, are pretty slim.

The real flaw in the transfer payment theory, however, lies in the fact that the recipient is required to perform no productive services whatever to qualify for benefits.

These are some of the thoughts that come to mind when planners start saying that transfer payments were all that saved the country from a real old-fashioned depression.

Labor Party In Australia Bids For Youthful Voters

By LYALL ROWE

CANBERRA (Reuters) — An "accent on youth" will be one of the main vote-catching themes of the opposition Labor party in the campaign for Australia's Nov. 22 general election.

In a strong bid for the votes of the new generation of voters — voting is compulsory in Australia for all persons 21 and over — the Labor party at a platform-planning conference here decided on these election promises:

1. Marriage loans for young couples to help establish their homes.

2. An instalment purchase department to be established within the Commonwealth Trading Bank to compete with instalment financing companies.

3. An amendment of the banking laws to enable central banks to encourage the private trading banks and the Commonwealth Trading Bank to make loans.

4. All banks to be instructed to be more generous in financing housing both through individuals and through housing societies.

BOOST PENSIONS

In the policy speech that Party Leader Herbert Evatt is expected to deliver in Sydney Oct. 23, these points also are expected to be emphasized:

1. Employment must be increased by greater federal and state public works expenditure.

2. Private investment to be encouraged.

3. Civil and war pensions to be increased.

4. A comprehensive national health scheme to be set up.

The party's platform conference decided that every proposal announced by Evatt will be backed by facts and figures to prove that it is practical.

HEALTH PLAN WOES

Some party members are reported to be disappointed with the final proposals for the national health scheme. The scheme that was planned as an election-winning undertaking two years ago has aroused opposition in medical circles.

The Labor party originally believed that the Australian health scheme as closely as possible. But observers here believe that the party now is unwilling to earn the active opposition of doctors and has attempted to devise a scheme that might win official medical approval.

Reports from the conference said that party members, after a survey of election prospects, expressed confidence that the decision to fight the election on mainly domestic issues will prevent the Labor party from losing further ground in the House of Representatives and could even lead to success.

Evatt apparently has no doubts. When the conference ended, he told reporters, "We were eminently successful. I am very confident of the outcome of the federal election."

Other Labor leaders have also claimed that the party now has "a fighting chance" in spite of the fact that the Labor vote still is split between the official Labor party and the breakaway Democratic Labor party that was formed in 1955.

Voting in Australia is by a preferential voting system and in the election campaign the official Labor party is expected to appeal to members of the Democratic Labor party to support a genuine labor policy by giving their second preferences to the official Labor candidates.

If they do this, these voters will be defying a decision of the Democratic Labor party, which has decided that second preference shall go to Liberal-Country party (government) candidates.

It was this decision that gave the Liberal-Country party its resounding victory in the recent state election in Victoria.

Nevertheless, Labor leaders seem more confident now than they have been for some time of coming out of the political wilderness after nine years in opposition.

WILL WE HAVE ENOUGH TRANQUILIZERS?

UNITED KINGDOM OPINION

Trade Union Wants No Part Of War In Quemoy, Formosa

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.)
Correspondent
For Daily Courier

LONDON — The Trades Union Congress general council has expressed very precisely the views of all the British people to whom we have talked about the Quemoy and Formosa crisis.

In a statement addressed to Prime Minister Macmillan, they asked the government to do everything in its power to dissuade the United States from engaging in a war to defend Quemoy. But it went further. It asked the government to make it clear that if the United States became so involved, Britain would not join in. And it asked that the British Government make it clear, at once, that Britain would not allow herself to become involved.

The meeting between Prime Minister Macmillan and the TUC Council has made it clear that there is complete agreement between them on the question of doing everything that is humanly possible to prevent the situation deteriorating to one of actual war. The government is just as anxious as is the TUC to find a peaceful solution for the Quemoy impasse. And that is the view of public opinion as expressed universally by the press of Britain and by individuals in all walks of life.

NOTABLE OMISSION

There was, however, one notable omission in the joint statement issued after the meeting between Macmillan and the TUC chiefs. Not one word was said about the TUC demand for Britain to announce that it would not join in supporting the United States if there was a war over Quemoy and Formosa. The Prime Minister merely reiterated a statement made on September 12, in which he said:

"Our American allies have neither sought nor received promises of military support from us in the Formosa area. The fact that we are not militarily involved puts all the greater obligation upon us to help in any way we can, by private consultation and public action, to secure a peaceful solution of these problems."

There the matter rests, for the moment. But there is a feeling of uneasiness in the air. There would be no enthusiasm whatever for any military undertaking should the United States find war over Quemoy inevitable. The British public are not so sure that Dulles is right in staking everything on its support of Chiang-Kai-Shek.

HOOS FOR GAITSKELL

A straw which may show what was the wind blows politically might be seen in the reception which Hugh Gaitskell, Labor party leader, received when he took part in a naming ceremony for two new blocks of flats in a working-class district of Liverpool. Hundreds of people in a crowd of some thousands boomed Mr. Gaitskell and shouts of devotion were almost continuous while Mr. Gaitskell was speaking. Extra police were drafted to the area when it appeared as if there might be even more serious trouble.

Cries of "We want Churchill, we want Macmillan" punctuated the booming of the hoarse, it seems, came from an organized crowd of "Orange" Lodge supporters, who waved Union Jacks and other flags and sucked orange-colored lollipops.

The block of flats was named after Alderman John Broadbent, Labor leader of Liverpool city council. The demonstration indicated that the Labor party has over-learned a daily newspaper, lost a lot of its popularity in that city.

RATE REDUCTION WORKS

Reduction rates of interest by instalment purchases companies had resulted in a spate of buying on that part of the public. Managing director Joseph Collins of United Drapery, with 12 large shops, reports an increase of 40 per cent in sales since interest rates on hire purchases were removed entirely. Several other large concerns have the same story to tell, indicating that the increased buying covers a wide range of consumer goods. But the government's removal of the compulsory down payments has not been followed religiously by the trading firms. Most groups are still asking for a 10 per cent deposit on furniture sales, although government controls on down payments have been lifted.

PRaise FOR CANADA

A headline in the London Evening Standard says "Canada's Sigmund Triumphs". The story underneath it went on to say: "Last night's fine performance of Die Walkure was notable for the triumphant appearance of Covent Garden's Canadian tenor John Vickers as Siegmund, a part he first sang at Bayreuth this year."

Mr. Vickers who hails from Alberta and Saskatchewan, has reached the zenith of his operatic career with his appearance at Covent Garden under the sponsorship of Rudolf Kempe, and the quality of his magnificent voice has aroused the enthusiasm of the critics in a manner quite unusual for London.

Music Box Has A Baby Brother

NEW YORK (AP) — The music box, which has made such a remarkable comeback since the war, today has a fast growing baby brother.

Stereophonic sound, its fans declared, will sweep the continent the way high fidelity and the long-playing records did before it. What this may do to the already established older forms of the phonographic industry no one is quite sure yet.

Some think stereo will follow the same course that hi fi took. Hi fi retail sales in the U.S. jumped from $12,000,000 in 1950 to perhaps $200,000,000 this year.

Stereo is a new starter but its enthusiasts think sales soon will reach 500,000 sets a year, or about one-tenth of the total phonograph business.

RECORDING RUSH

The latest entry into the home music field is the device that makes you think the sound is coming from all sides of the living room. Instead of just from the box in front of you. With some effort and a bit of cash your present hi fi equipment can be enlarged to take on stereo. Or you can start from scratch and buy a new stereo set outright.

For records, you now have about 500 titles from which to choose—or just about one month's production of long-playing records. But more stereo records are being rushed to market by RCA, Columbia, Decca, Capitol and others.

The older monaural records—millions of them—can't give you stereophonic sound. They can be played on a stereo set but they go on sounding monaural.

Stereo calls for new needles and a different cartridge, for two amplifiers and two speakers. On the standard long-playing record sound waves are recorded on one side of the groove. On a stereo record, one part of the groove is recorded on one side of the groove and the other part of the sound on the opposite side. The needle picks up both parts of the sound and the needle and cartridge separate them and send them to different amplifiers and different speakers.

The stereo needle has to be even smaller than the one used for long-playing records and must be rounded to keep it from cutting into the record.

OTTAWA REPORT

Who Is Next Ambassador?

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
(Specially Written For The Daily Courier)

OTTAWA—Our capital's best-kept diplomatic secret in living memory is the identity of our next ambassador to the United States. There has been no trace of any leak and no whisper of speculation as to the person who is to fill this key Embassy.

Our present ambassador in Washington, the 51 year old Norman Robertson, was only appointed last year. Prior to that, he held the office of Canadian High Commissioner in Britain.

With a short break while he was Clerk to the Privy Council in Ottawa, he served in England for 11 years, at a post for which he was eminently suited, and in which he was well-liked and highly regarded.

During the past fourteen years, Canada has been represented by four ambassadors in Washington. These have all been career civil servants: Mr. L. B. Pearson (now leader of the Liberal Opposition in the Commons); Mr. Hume Wrong; Mr. A. D. P. Heene (now chairman of the Civil Service Commission here); and Mr. Robertson.

AMERICANS STAR HERE.

In that same period, American ambassadors to Canada have included two career civil servants, and two political appointees who were the late Mr. Lawrence Steinhardt and Mr. Douglas Stuart.

Those two non-professional diplomats have performed by far the more outstanding job here, while the two professionals have by comparison been smoothly capable and safely unremarkable and have never caused the Canadian government a single sleepless night.

This makes one wonder whether effective diplomatic representation of Canada in Washington does not likewise call for something more free-wheeling than a man who is to the striped pants trained and to the play-it-safe aimed.

To speak effectively for us in Washington, our ambassador must be more than a mere deliverer for our government. He must really understand the entirely different system of government in the United States, he must be a mixer and a selective backslapper, and he must assiduously cultivate many personages whose counterparts in Ottawa are diplomatically trivial, such as the chairmen of the powerful Congressional committees.

Diplomatic protocol in that post is less significant than a monadine manner, while a close acquaintance with business and business methods, and an ear at least attuned to political realities, are essential.

RUMOR DENIED

It is perhaps in alert recognition of these needs that the story gained currency that the post had been offered to Mr. Henry Borden, a well-known and successful Toronto businessman, a nephew of a former Prime Minister, and currently chairman of the Royal Commission studying the future of our oil and gas industries.

It has been denied that Mr. Borden will be our next ambassador to Washington. But it is likely that he was in fact offered the post, but felt himself unable to serve in the most important frontline trench on our diplomatic battleground.

Now all that is accepted as certain, in the confidential conclaves of our diplomatic ivory tower, the East Block on Parliament Hill, is that the important ambassadorship will not now be given to one of our career diplomats.

A difficult problem certainly faces Prime Minister John Diefenbaker in making one of its most important appointments. For it is an appointment which could have an immense influence for good or for ill over our foreign trade and domestic prosperity in the coming years. Further, it is an appointment in which a Canadian voice might well play the decisive role in determining whether or not Mr. John Foster Dulles tumbles over the brink and drags us with him.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

CENTENNIAL HALL

Editor, Kelowna Courier.

Dear Sir:

Regarding the opening of the Centennial Hall, I note Mayor Parkinson said the fire of the exhibition-building was the luckiest thing that ever happened to Kelowna.

No doubt it was!

But I certainly think he could have added to that remark: "Though Kelowna was lucky, we have to remember the unlucky blow to Mr. Jennings, who lost all."

It would have been kind.

Yours truly,
DOROTHY CHAMBERLAIN.

HUNTERS DISREGARD PRIVILEGES

"Some hunters don't know when they're well off," says Game Warden Don Ellis, pointing to the perforated sign from Reinswig's Slough, near Kelowna.

Dunc Fall and William Curtis, owners of the property, have sought to cooperate with hunters, asking only that they enter by the gate, leaving their cars outside, and shoot all they like, but some hunters have shown carefree disregard of the plywood sign by ridding it as

Building In Sept. Down But Total For Nine Months Shows Increase

Although building permit values during the month of September were down compared with the corresponding period last year, the nine-month total is ahead of 1957.

Figures released this week showed construction up to the end of September was valued at $1,339,666, nearly $200,000 more than the same period last year. Last month building was valued at $97,538.75 compared with $101,625 in 1957.

Here are comparative city figures for the past 11 years:

Year	Month	Total
1958	Sept.	$97,538.75
1957	Sept.	$101,625.00
1956	Sept.	$122,191.00
1955	Sept.	$103,185.00
1954	Sept.	$128,550.00
1953	Sept.	$107,100.00
1952	Sept.	$30,345.00
1951	Sept.	$21,150.00
1950	Sept.	$17,655.00
1949	Sept.	$17,761.00
1948	Sept.	$7,375.00
1947	Sept.	$17,520.00

Glenmore, municipality topped Kelowna in monthly figures. September building totalled $105,800 while the nine-month total was $510,181. This was more than double the figure of $22,950 for last September, and nearly triple the amount of $192,135 recorded for the nine months total in 1957. This month's figure included the $8,400 addition to the Glenmore elementary school and $96,500 for residential building permits.

N. Matick, building inspector for the rural district reported a figure of $195,806, against $74,300 for last September. Permits for 16 dwellings accounted for most of the building.

This month's figure brings the nine-month rural total to $1,307,107, an increase of more than half a million dollars over last year's total of $851,984.

Dr. Laycock, former dean of education, University of Saskatchewan, will be one of the speakers at the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association convention, to be held in Vernon in October. Twenty-five teachers were from Vernon and Lumby. Others came from different areas of the North Okanagan.

More Books Being Read Despite Advent Of TV

Despite the fact television has now been available to Kelowna and district residents for the past year, people are still reading more books.

At least this is borne out by the September report of the Okanagan Regional Library. Mrs. Muriel Foulkes, local librarian, disclosed the circulation figure last month was 9,996, an increase of 1,602 compared with the same month a year ago.

Of this total, 2,350 of the books checked out were to juveniles. There were 7,646 adult books circulated, 2,376 were non-fiction, and 5,279 were fiction.

Police Probe Break-In At Local School

It was not known immediately if anything of value was taken, though it appeared obvious that many rooms were given a thorough search.

Entry was gained by climbing on the roof of a storage shed at the rear and then breaking a window. Juveniles are blamed for this latest of break-ins in the same school where about $400 in cash was stolen several months ago.

Notaries Seek Legislation To Stop Invasion Of Field

B.C. Notaries Public Society does not want unauthorized persons to "invade" the notary public field.

Legislation prohibiting such steps will be pressed through an amendment to the Land Registry Act, according to local delegates who attended the annual meeting held at Harrison Hot Springs.

Such legislation would stop persons from illegally drawing up documents registrable under the act.

It was stated that too many real estate people who are not notaries are drawing up documents in contravention of the act which permits only notaries and lawyers to do this work.

Kelowna delegates, accompanied by their wives, who attended the convention were B. M. Baker, R. H. Wilson and J. A. Thompson. Mr. Baker was appointed a district vice-president for the society. Another district vice-president appointee was A. E. Berry of Vernon.

J. T. Watt, J.P. of West Vancouver was elected society president; A. B. Jacobson, Vancouver, vice-president, and A. S. Matthew, MLA, also of Vancouver, secretary.

Directors will set up a committee on education to prepare a special code of ethics.

Winter Employment Suggestions Outlined

"Kelowna has so far pulled its own weight in the attempt to solve the problem of winter unemployment."

This was a statement from William Horrobin, regional employment officer for the National Employment Service, Pacific region, in an address to the local unemployment advisory committee Wednesday night.

"This city should thank those people like yourselves who work for year-round stability in employment," he said.

Every effort is being made to ease the problem on municipal, provincial and federal levels, and as winter is fast approaching, "now is the time for action."

He recommended more publicity for the campaign on all levels and reported that both the provincial and federal governments have allocated an additional $10,000 for this purpose this year. "However," he said, "money is not the final solution to our troubles. We cannot buy employment but as soon as someone comes up with a practical suggestion, the governments will be able to accomplish far more."

In conclusion he contended that the main points to consider would be: a more extensive publicity campaign, discussion with municipal authorities as to a possible reconsideration of their budgets to allow for winter employment; a discussion with labor and management with regard to their work patterns, particularly in the fields of overtime and "moonlighting," (the holding of more than one job by one person).

During an impromptu discussion which followed a delegate suggested that the government be asked to bring in some type of legislation to eliminate this "moonlighting" problem, to which Mr. Horrobin replied that the public found such regimentation of workers "obnoxious."

Fraser Black, delegate for the fruit industry asked if anything was being done in the effort to gain unemployment insurance benefits for agricultural workers. Mr. Horrobin replied that the question was receiving "very earnest consideration," and "progress is being made."

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

G. D. MacKay, representing the Canadian Legion reported his organization is investigating reports that immigrant laborers were being used on government jobs and that veterans and other local men were being "pushed back and forth," by some subcontractors. Mr. Horrobin suggested that the Legion submit a resolution of protest to the federal government.

Clayton Wall, regional officer for the International Woodwork-ers of America, said more should be done to provide vocational training for younger people, particularly in the Okanagan valley.

Mr. Horrobin pointed out that there were vocational training schools in Vancouver and Nanaimo open to qualified men and women and if proper application were made, some assistance could be paid by the government in the way of tuition and living expenses while training.

He agreed, however that more should be done to train not only young people, but to provide some technical training for the handicapped persons in the province.

AIRPORT WORK

It was suggested that the authorities be pressed to begin work as soon as possible on the enlarging of the Ellison airfield, as it was felt that this project could provide employment for local men, particularly operators of heavy equipment.

I. M. Trueman, city works superintendent stated that the city council would likely be in agreement with such a proposal, as they too are anxious to see work on the project begin.

Packers Triumph In 58-59 Opener

'Twas a good night for the Irish, last night.

Coach Jack O'Reilly's Packers had just beaten the New Westminster Royals, 2-1, when the genial coach received the news that Ivan Tennant, his highly-touted defence prospect from the OHA's Soo Greyhounds had arrived in camp.

Accepting a challenge from coach Hal Laycoe for a return match, coach O'Reilly said, "We'll be happy to accept. The more games we play before our trip to Russia, the better off we'll be."

And last night's game was a rouser, from the word go. Referee Bing Jukes, former WHL official now aspiring to foot, whistled in the WHL, was serving an apprenticeship in the different rules and proved to be one of the busiest guys on the ice, issuing 20 minors, 2 majors and a match.

ARNIE IRATE
The trip to the showers was issued to 132 lbs. of irate hockey player named Arnie Schmutz, after the pint-sized pepper pot had made free with his stick, then berated Jukes verbally, and wound up the evening's festivities by cross checking him, then slugging him. Unofficial reports give Schmutz the possibility of a suspension and fine for the incident.

Both clubs played on even terms for the first frame, with Howie Young, Royals rookie prospect, drawing two minors and Packers' Bud Laidler adding a couple, and Russ Kowalchuk adding one. In spite of the three shots at power plays the Royals were unable to penetrate goalie Catherine's sanctum, and Bev Bentley held things down in the Royals' goal.

Royal Cries Blues, Aggies Not Torrid
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Coach Darrell Royal of Texas A & M is singing the football blues. He says Texas Tech can beat his Longhorns Saturday.

"We didn't play too good against Tulane," he declared. "I know if we don't play better against Tech we'll be defeated."

He said Tech is as good as A and M and "will be more fired up than we will because they want to beat the State university."

Royal, former coach of Edmonton Eskimos in Canada's Western Interprovincial Football Union, put his team through a rough workout Wednesday, featuring heavy body contact.

Baseball Vet Dies In Nelson
NELSON (CP) — A business man in British Columbia for more than 50 years, Cornelius Lawrence Whelan, 86, died suddenly here Tuesday.

He retired seven years ago after operating hotels at Vancouver and the Interior since 1900. After building the Napanee Hotel, named after his birthplace in Ontario, he moved to Vancouver to operate the Regent Hotel from 1919 to 1943, when he decided to retire. Mr. Whelan moved to Salmon Arm and promptly bought another hotel.

Curling Season Starts In Kelowna Nov. 8-9
The 1958-59 curling season will swing into action November 8-9. Date was set at the annual meeting of the Kelowna Curling Club at which time L. A. Truswell was chosen to guide the reins of the organization during the coming year.

George Sutherland, well-known Kelowna resident, has been engaged as ice maker. He is at present in Vancouver attending a curling school where all the latest suggestions of curling management are discussed.

Following prolonged discussion, it was decided to set a fee of $35 for all certificate and non-certificate curling members. It was pointed out the majority of active curlers are non-certificate holders. There are approximately 57 certificate holders who curl regularly.

Membership at the end of last season's play totalled 300 men and women, along with around 40 students from junior and senior high schools. One of the main objectives of the club is to promote curling in the high schools.

Finances are in good shape, the incoming president reported. Last year, the club had an operating surplus of $2,000. Debentures are being paid off every year. Last year the indebtedness was reduced by $2,000.

Mr. Truswell paid tribute to the retiring president, Nels Clow, who has occupied this post for the past two years.

A special committee will shortly meet with the arena commission to discuss the agreement that exists between the two bodies for supplying artificial ice. Meanwhile a refrigeration engineer, Don Fleming, will inspect the ammonia plant and outline the necessary repairs that will have to be made to machinery.

COFFEE BAR
The committee will look into the possibility of lady curlers taking over the operation of the coffee bar. It is understood two other parties are also interested in the venture.

In a brief discussion on the official opening, it was left to Bill Robson and Bob McCaughy to arrange for a suitable ceremony.

Members who plan to curl this year are requested to contact the committee before October 15 so that a start can be made on making up team rosters.

It was also agreed to allow reduced rates for junior and senior high school curlers.

In addition to Mr. Truswell being elected president, other officers chosen were: Gerry Lippett, vice-president; Walter Hobbs, secretary; Tom Robertson, Fred Kitch, Nels Clow, Murray Conklin, William Robson, Crete Shirreff, Bud Fisher, Dr. Harold Henderson, Doug Sutherland, Don Day, Bob McCaughy, Jack Minette and Art Green, members of the executive.

Secondly, however Young and Mike Durban on a three-man rush, firing one low at Campbell.

The rookie made the stop, then it dropped down on the crease, and as Durban rushed in to make the goal good, Campbell pushed it over the line himself.

In the final minute of play, with Norm Ryder serving time for the Royals, centreman Gordon Cowan, playing the point, drove one in and both Young and Jones had a whack at it before it dropped down on the open side, and Durban drove it home.

The final frame was rather hectic, as the pros turned on a bit of rough play in an endeavor to even things up, but nothing materialized. The only swinging duel, occurring at the halfway mark when Creighton roughed Cowan up and started a brawl, ended in a major apiece, and no further repercussions.

The hostilities will resume on Tuesday night between the two clubs after the Packers host Seattle Totems Saturday night.

Minor Pucksters Register Sat.
Boys wishing to play minor hockey this year may pick up their registration forms on Saturday, from 10-12 a.m. and 1-3 p.m. at the B & B Paint Spot Ltd., 1477 Ellis St.

Registration this year will be under the control of Fred Macklin, chairman of registration, and any boys up to the age of 20 wishing to play hockey may obtain the forms, which will be returned the following Saturday.

The need for fast action on the forms was emphasized by Mr. Macklin, since the sooner registration is completed, the sooner schedules can be drawn up, and play commenced.

SPORTLIGHT
World Series Gets Away On A Real "Brave" Note
By GEORGE INGLIS
(Courier Sports Editor)

Yesterday, the Brewery City frothed over. Always an enthusiastic sports-loving city, Milwaukee simply erupts when their Braves enjoy any triumph, and their comeback defeat of the highly touted Yanks yesterday in County Stadium filled more than 40,000 souls with fierce exultation, even those who were leaning toward the American League pennant holders.

There was pathos, thrills, laughs, and spine-tingling excitement in the contest, a suitable opening for the sports spectacle that captures in imagination of literally millions of people all over the world.

Billed as a pitcher's duel, that is exactly what it turned out to be, with the hits given up by both men being scarcer than hen's teeth, but it was big and durable Warren Spahn who emerged on top, aiding his National League club's cause with a couple of the clouds that foeman Whitey Ford grudgingly gave up.

And in the final frame, after the Braves had come through to tie the game up, Ryne Duren, the Yanks towering right-hander with the blazing fast-ball, held the Braves down and the game went into extra innings, all very, very thrilling to the ecstatic Braves' fans, who were hot on the scent by this time.

Duren, called in by Casey Stengel in the eighth when Ford's control had started to waver, got tagged by Joe Adcock for a single in the extra inning, after Spahn and his mates had sent the Yanks down scoreless, and the pressure started to tell on the tall right-hander, to the point where he stepped off the rubber to snarl on a couple of the umpire's calls.

But it wasn't the old pros he really had to fear, rather it was a first-timer like himself, Billy Buren. Facing with Adcock in the scoring position at second base, Buren smashed out a single that was probably a talking point when he asks for a raise next year.

"And if any of the delirious Milwaukee fans have anything to say about it, he'll get it."

JUST A HARD CORE OF HOCKEY fans, about 850 of them, turned out last night to watch the first hockey game of the season, and those who did were treated to a spirited game that made up in action what it may have lacked in polish.

The Packers salted away this game, 2-1, reminiscent of last year's first game, 4-3 against the same club, and coach Jack O'Reilly had his fingers crossed that this year's remainder of play will be even better.

Among the performers out on the ice was a ruddy faced gent who intends to see a lot more of Hal Laycoe's Royals this year. Big Jukes, former WHL ref, slated to work the WHL this year.

However, old Bing seemed to have a bit of trouble convincing people who was boss, and wound up handing out 20 minors, two majors, and one of indeterminate length to peppy pint-pot Arnie Schmutz, who cross-checked and slugged him in his bitterness. Remarks from the New Westminster press on Bing were rather foreboding, but the stubby guy with the whistle certainly called them as he saw them.

Defensively, the Packers were the superior club, and it showed up particularly in the fore-checking department, as they upset the Royals' attacks right in their own end many times. Both Packers markers were scored on the power play, from close in, and the red and white club had more chance to organize and work in than the Royals were showing when the Packers were short-handed.

The most effective line on the ice, and one that's going to be hard to beat this year, was the Young-Jones-Durban trio, for hard two-way hockey of the type that wins games. This trio, who really came into their own in the dying moments of last season, and blazed their way through the play-offs, seem to be headed the same way again this year.

An outstanding job of defensive work was turned in by the pair of Bobby Bergeron and Harry Smith. The old pro sensed many of his old team-mates' actions, covered wily Max McNab like a tent most of the evening, and seemed to work in very well with "Hurricane Harry."

When Laycoe rubs some of the edges off that crew of his, he will be a power to reckon with in the WHL, however, and the Royals will be nobody's push-over in this year's action.

BACK TO THE SUBJECT OF BASEBALL, remember the Orioles-Okonots contest in Elks' Stadium this Sunday at 2:30, the last baseball game of this year's Okanagan Mainline Baseball League play in the Orchard City this year.

The calibre of baseball this year has been, exceptionally high, and the showing of the Kelowna Orioles has been as fine a class of ball as the city has ever seen. By the same token the Okonots are one of the best clubs ever knit together in the Hub City, and the two clubs are so evenly balanced that it is usually anybody's game when they meet.

In early-season showing, the O's seemed to have it over the Okies like a tent, as indeed they did over most of the league, but during the last half of the season the Okies steadily improved, and the O's slipped in their hitting, until the Kamloops club overtook them and held first place for a brief spell.

Dating from the junket the O's took to Lethbridge, the defending champs pulled up their socks, and they were neck-and-neck with the Okies when league play ended, giving the northern club a chance to cop the flag in a sudden-death home game. Coach Hank Tostenson and his boys got their bats going again last Sunday to beat the fighting northerners out in a thriller, watched by 1,200 people in the northern city. Sunday's game figures to be one of the best this season, and it will positively be the last played here this year.

LET'S PLAY TIE BALL PARK THIS SUNDAY.

LAST WORD FROM THE WATER, via the thundering throats of two of Art "Silver Fox" Jones' stable of racers was a good word, indeed.

Down at the Lake Sammamish annual regatta, driver Jim McGuire took Miss Kelowna Too, Art's new 260 hydro, into the 7 litre class, the Junior Gold Cuppers, and came away with a victory. As if this wasn't enough, he picked up seconds in two heats of the 266 classes, and switched over to Restless III to win two heats of the 225 class, for a very large day, indeed.

Art holds a lot of hopes for the performance of the new hydro, which he thinks will clean up just about everything it enters next year, now that McGuire is getting used to her, and can jockey her to best advantage.

And the "grand old man" of boat racing, with half a century of building them and racing them behind him, knows what he's talking about, when it comes to boats—or racing.

ODDS AND SODS DEPARTMENT—Saw KEN "CANNY" McKENZIE hanging out in the Memorial Arena last night. His reason for being there was probably two-fold—social, to greet some of his former players from his days with the Royals, and business, to have a look at his arch-rivals of last year, the Packers.

Another notable at the game was ROY McBRIDE, the boss of the Spokane Flyers, newly entered in the WHL's pro set-up, and currently training in Penticton.

DON'T FORGET THE BALL GAME THIS SUNDAY.

EXMOUTH, England (CP)—The number of votes cast for unsuccessful girls in a public poll to choose the carnival queen of this Devon town were not announced, to save them embarrassment.

SPAHN HUMBLER YANKS

Hurler Crushed, Yanks In A Jam?

MILWAUKEE (AP)—New York Yankees were in a world series jam today, down one game to Milwaukee Braves, their best pitcher already chased from the mound and Yankee Killer Lew Burdette waiting to take their place.

Ford beat the Yanks three times in last year's classic, shutting them out in the last 24 innings. He was confident of another victory following the Braves' 10-inning 4-3 triumph in the opener Wednesday.

Right-hander Bob Turley, who won 21 games and lost seven during the regular American League season, was called on by the Yankees to deadlock the best-of-seven series. He started twice in 1957. He was routed the first time but came back to beat the Braves 3-2 in the sixth game. Most of the Yankees' bullpen belonged to Warren Spahn, 37-year-old left-hander who lost last year's opener to Ford, and ninth-hitter Billy Bruton.

Spahn tossed a great eight-hitter and got stronger as the game progressed. Bruton belted one.

Bruton sent the crowd of 48,367 at Milwaukee County Stadium into near-hysteria by belting a line drive single to right field against fireballing Ryne Duren to score the winning run after the Braves had pulled even with an eighth-inning rally.

Hank Aaron, perhaps the Braves' most feared by the Yankees, struck out opening the 10th. Joe Adcock ripped a single to center.

Wes Covington sent Elston Howard deep into left with the wind helping the ball but the Yankee outfielder caught his long drive. Del Crandall, a Duren trikeout victim on three pitches in the eighth, bounced a high hopper to short center for a single. That brought up Bruton. Duren threw a strike and then two balls before Bruton lined the game-winning hit to the fence. Nobody had a chance to get close to it.

It was an appropriate ending for the customers who watched the opening game on a chill, sunny afternoon.

BURDETTE PROMISES
Burdette vowed to duplicate Spahn's performance.

"It would be nice if we could win all four between us just as we did a year ago," the 31-year-old West Virginian said. "But we're not hogs. I'd prefer that we win it in four and let one of our other pitchers share in the team's success."

Spahn predicted a quick series victory. The series odds were 7 to 5 for the Yankees before Wednesday's game. They swung to 6 to 5 for the Braves after the decision.

"I think we can beat them in five," said Spahn. "In fact, it may even be four if Lew beats Turley. And I think he will."

Those guys must be worried now, hectored to win," said patrolman Fred Kopkat, who was stationed on Milwaukee's main street.

Or it may be they were happy just to be in the warmth of their autos after being outdoors in Wednesday's unseasonably chilly weather—57 late in the afternoon was the high.

The capacity crowd of 47,300 in County Stadium huddled in hats, topcoats, furs and blankets. Milwaukee is a great place for drinking beer at the ball games, but hot coffee and hot dogs were the favorite fare today.

Policewomen were busy outside the stadium, watching for scalpers. Two young women officers in bright fall hats said they bought two $2 bleacher tickets for $27 each from two young men, then arrested them.

Police also said two middle-aged men sold standing room tickets, prices at $4, for $20 and $25, respectively.

Warren Spahn the pitcher owes much of his success to Warren Spahn the hitter.

The Milwaukee Braves left-hander proved it again in the world series opener Wednesday when he shaded New York Yankees 4-3 in 10 innings. If Spahn weren't a reliable batsman he would not have gone the distance.

Manager Fred Haney would have taken him out for a pinch-hitter in the seventh inning with the Braves trailing 3-2 or again in the eighth with the score tied 3-3.

"I was surprised when Fred let me hit with us trailing 3-2," Spahn said. "But that's the sort of confidence that helps a pitcher. Don't think it isn't. He stuck his neck way out in the open."

Spahn fled out as the leadoff batter in the seventh but he contributed two singles to the Braves' attack and drove in their second run.

"I was halfway pulling for the guy in front of me (Andy Pafko) to get a hit in the sixth so Fred could get me out of the way (for a pinch-hitter)," Spahn said. "I never thought I'd be around in the seventh."

East Indian Bride May Perform Native Dances For Canadians

BANCROFT, Ont. (CP)—Classical Indian dancing may be presented in Canada by a young bride who has settled with her geologist husband in this growing uranium mining community, 50 miles northeast of Peterborough.

Pushpa Sharan and her husband Brij are Hindus who married five months ago in New Delhi.

Mrs. Sharan has passed the highest examinations in her country in Indian classical dancing and has often appeared at theatres there.

"It is my ambition to present these traditional dances to Canadian audiences," she said.

She is also an artist who has won gold medals for portraits and landscape paintings.

This year has been one of achievement for her. She married in April and graduated from the University of Agra with a master of arts degree in history. At college she was a member of the National Cadet Corps, a women's military training organization.

"If I had stayed in India I would never have had the opportunity to learn cooking, cleaning and marketing for back home. These tasks are performed by servants," she said.

She wears a sari frequently, but says she is just as much at home in slacks and blouse as it was the official uniform of the cadet corps.

Speaking English is no problem because she learned it at school and reads English extensively.

Holiday Theatre Suffers Overturn During Tour

Holiday Theatre suffered a serious mishap recently while travelling to Invermere for its scheduled performance in the Community Centre.

At 11 a.m. their huge van in which the eight members of the cast travelled, complete with all their stage properties and costumes, was lying on its side on Highway 95. Shaken and bruised the cast members climbed out, some through the broken window, counted personnel, estimated personal damage, and decreed "The Show Will Go On."

The cast had left Kimberley early, having played there Tuesday evening, and were proceeding to Radium for a quick dip in the springs as a special "pick-up" for their travel weariness. They have been "on the road" for months with their centennial play "The Magic Nugget."

Near Dry Gulch a tire blew on the van and threw the vehicle off the road with terrific force as they carried some 1,500 pounds of equipment. Safety of the cast was of immediate concern and after the initial shock Mrs. Mildred Cushing, who is in charge of the party, counted noses and found that her players were shaken and bruised but not actually injured by the crash.

A passing trucker brought Mrs. Cushing and the transportation manager into Invermere and arrangements were made to bring the passengers and van into town.

Holiday Theatre, true to tradition, went "on with the show" despite their untimely mishap, and presented a fine performance.

Full of action and color, "The Magic Nugget" was a good suspense play.

The group will appear here Friday at the high school auditorium at afternoon and evening performances. Evening show starts at 7:30.

McMurphy-Dyste Rites Of Interest

Asters in big baskets, with pink and white streamers adorned the First Baptist Church for the late September wedding uniting Thelma Josephine Dyste of Kelowna and David Ross McMurphy of Turtleford, Sask.

Pastor R. M. Bourke conducted the evening ceremony for the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Dyste and the son of Mr. D. J. McMurphy of Turtleford, and the late Mrs. McMurphy.

A floor-length gown of white lace and net was worn by the bride who was given in marriage by her father. A scalloped bateau neckline and lily-point sleeves were attractive features of the bodice which joined the softly crinolined skirt fashioned with four tiers of lace and net. Her lace-edged finger tip veil was secured by a chaplet of satin pearls. Red roses and white stephanotis formed the bridal bouquet, and she wore a single strand pearl necklace.

The bride's only attendant was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lorne Dyste, who wore yellow taffeta in ballerina length, with yellow flower headband. Her colonial bouquet of white chrysanthemums was daintily contrasted with turquoise.

Mr. E. R. Hartwick, the groom's cousin was best man, and ushering were the bride's brother, Mr. Lorne Dyste, and Mr. Paul Reichel, brother-in-law of the groom.

During the signing of the register the bride's sister, Miss Ellen Dyste, sang "The Wedding Prayer." Miss Helen Epp was organist.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dyste chose a gown of teal blue silk, with pink accessories and corsage of dainty pink roses. A reception for 40 guests followed the ceremony at the Aquatic Panoramio Room, where Pastor Bourke proposed the bridal toast, to which the groom gave response. The bride's table was beautifully appointed with lace tablecloth and white tapers in silver holders flanking the wedding cake which had dainty miniature bells and lily of the valley on top.

The bride chose a dusty rose ensemble for travelling to Edmonton where the newly-wedded pair will reside.

Included in the guests were Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Altstadt of Vernon and Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Dyste and Carol of Vancouver.

WINFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. B. Oxenham, who are soon going to Italy as missionaries, took part in the evening service held at the United Church. They showed pictures and gave an interesting talk on missionary work.

Mr. E. Oxenham gave a trombone solo and Mrs. Oxenham sang a solo and Miss Shirley Oxenham played the organ throughout the service.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Townsend and daughter Sandra are visitors at the home of Mrs. Townsend's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Goodburn.

Traveller Tells Of Experiences

The Kelowna White Cane Club held the first meeting of the season at the Women's Institute Hall on Tuesday evening. Mrs. R. W. Home-Smith of Lumby, president presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Home-Smith, who is without sight, has just returned from a trip to England, and during the evening gave a most interesting talk about her mounting climbing experiences while there.

Mrs. Margaret Reid of Penticton won the cribbage championship for the western division which includes British Columbia and Alberta. Presentation of a special cribbage board was made, and her trophy was on exhibition.

The meeting was well attended with some new members to replace those who have been lost.

Mrs. T. Walker led a sing-song, accompanied by Mrs. Walter Anderson. This entertainment, which Mrs. Walker has provided before, is always greatly enjoyed and appreciated.

The Dr. Knox Chapter, IOOE provided refreshments, which brought the evening to a close.

OKANAGAN MISSION

OKANAGAN MISSION—Week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Harris were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Robb of Seattle, and Mrs. Robb were en route to the Cariboo.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wilson of Hobson Road were down at the Coast for the Notary Convention held at Harrison Hot Springs.

Construction is well under way on Chesterfield Hall, Mrs. Yolande Hamilton, headmistress is hoping to occupy the five classrooms before Christmas. It is hoped that the residence can be constructed next year. Future plans call for a swimming pool and gymnasium. This private school will fill a much needed gap in the educational needs of the whole interior.

Members of the Credit Bureau of British Columbia meeting in convention at the Eldorado Arms Hotel are having a gala time. Business meetings are being held at the hotel. On Sunday evening, the Kinette Choir gave a concert. On Monday evening a barbecue was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hill, Cedar Creek. On Tuesday a dinner and dance were held at the Eldorado Arms.

Cancer Researchers Will Probe Habits

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Cancer Society plans a survey of more than 1,000,000 persons in an effort to pinpoint any relationship between personal habits and cancer.

The study will not be concerned primarily with smoking habits but will include them along with questions about diet, exercise, sleep, occupation, physical complaints, health history and other factors.

A staff of 50,000 volunteers is being trained to undertake questioning of survey participants in their homes.

Director Of VON Says Nurses Now Still Work Hard

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Grace Versey is retiring as London district director of the Victorian Order of Nurses after 30 years' work with the organization.

She took her initial training at Cheltenham, England, graduated from Cook County Hospital in Chicago and then took a public health nursing course at the University of Western Ontario here. She joined the VON in 1928, working for 10 years in London before going to Oshawa, Ont., and then to East York. She became district director here in 1938.

"The young nurse now does not have to work 20 hours straight on a case, as we used to do," she recalls. "But she still has a great deal to do."

Among other posts she held were terms as president of the public health alumnae of the University of Western Ontario, president of the local Soroptimists branch and membership in the IOOE. She is also on the part-time staff of the University's school of nursing.

Her assistant director, Vera Sloan, is also retiring, after 29 years with the VON.

Annual Puck Guessing Game Has New Twist

By RON ANDREWS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

The annual guessing game in the National Hockey League is on, but with a different twist this time.

With the 1958-59 schedule opening in a few days, the experts are pondering which two of the six clubs will be shunted to the sidelines before the playoffs open in March. Just about everybody is calling Montreal Canadiens, powerhouse Stanley Cup champions, to repeat.

Canadiens made the 210-game schedule a runaway last season and they are as strong, if not stronger, this time out. They've lost three veterans, but they've been able to dig into their rich farm clubs for young talent.

ALL-STAR GAME

The Habs, who finished with 96 points in 1957-58—19 up on the second-place New York Rangers—will be tested Saturday at Montreal in the annual all-star game. The regular schedule opens Wednesday, Oct. 8, when Rangers visit Chicago Black Hawks.

Boston Bruins, who lost to Canadiens in the Stanley Cup final the last two seasons, meet Canadiens at Montreal Oct. 9. Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs make their debut Oct. 11 when Wings visit Montreal and Chicago plays at Toronto. Rangers are at Boston the same night.

Canadiens will be without left-winger Bert Olmstead, right-winger Floyd Boucher and defenceman Dollard St. Laurent. Olmstead and St. Laurent were sold to Toronto and Chicago, respectively, during the summer draft meeting and Curry is playing—coach of Montreal Royals, Canadiens' Quebec Hockey League farm team.

Expected to fill the gaps are rookies Ralph Backstrom, 20-year-old native of Kirkland Lake who appears to have made the big jump from junior A hockey to NHL, Alvin McDonald, a play-off member in the past with Habs, and Albert (Junior) Langlois.

Langlois, a rugged six-footer defenceman, played seven games with Montreal last season. McDonald is expected to play in the minor leagues for several seasons.

LOST FOUR IN DRAFT

Most of the deals during the summer between the six clubs were confined to the draft meeting, at which Rangers lost four of last season's veterans.

Danny Lewicki and Dave Creighton were drafted by Canadiens and later sold to Hawks and Leafs, respectively, for the $15,000 waiver price. Defenceman Jack Evans was drafted by Hawks and Guy Gendron went to Boston Bruins.

The four players were left off Rangers' 18-player protected list and the other clubs gobbled them up for the $15,000—draft price. General manager Muzz Patrick decided to protect his younger players.

Most promising Ranger rookie is Eddie Shack, a graduate of Guelph Biltmores of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series two seasons ago. Shack was due for promotion from Providence Reds of the American Hockey League last year but suffered a broken leg which kept him out of action most of the term.

Defenceman John Hanna and forwards Orland Kurtenbach, Earl Ingarfield, Les Colwill and Jimmy Bartlett were the outstanding newcomers at training camp.

CHICAGO CHANGES

Chicago appears to have made the most changes. Besides St. Laurent, Evans and Lewicki, Hawks picked up centre Tod Sloan from Toronto and defenceman Al Arbour from Detroit in the draft.

Chicago coach Rudy Pilous, who took over the job midway through last season, hopes Sloan and Lewicki will add scoring punch.

Toronto has attempted to strengthen its porous defence by picking up goaltender Johnny Bower and defenceman Steve Kraftcheck from Cleveland Barons of the AHL. Leafs also hope that defenceman Carl Brewer, who still has a year of junior A hockey left, and Noel Price, who saw limited action with Leafs last season, will help.

The addition of Creighton, who had a trial with Toronto in 1954-55 before going to Chicago, and Olmstead should strengthen the for-

CANADA MAY TAKE OVER DEW BASES

At a cost of $1,000,000 a year, Canada may take over four key bases in the DEW line, now operated by U.S. forces. Prime Minister Diefenbaker is expected to announce soon that two of the bases which keep radar watch between North America and Russia will be taken over from the U.S. within the next nine months and two more late in 1959. The move would end friction between the two countries resulting from the knowledge that all Canadian officials must obtain permission from the U.S. to visit the U.S.-built bases in the Canadian Arctic.

Plant Scientists Seek New Wheat Variety

By BOB TRIMBLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
WINNIPEG (CP) — Plant scientists here are seeking to breed into Thatcher wheat, the variety most widely grown on the Prairies, a new coat of armor against its worst enemies.

In 1954 a severe attack of stem rust reduced western crops by 135,000,000 bushels. Thatcher suffered heavily and appeared headed for the scrap heap like so many of its predecessors. Its scope was further limited by its susceptibility to the sawfly.

Plant breeders now are trying to inject into Thatcher properties to give it protection against both villains.

IMPORTANT WORK
Prof. E. C. Jenkins of the University of Manitoba's plant science department said, if the work is successful Thatcher will again dominate most wheat areas, including the rust area of Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan where rust-resistant varieties such as Selkirk now are seeded to 90 per cent of the wheat acreage.

Researchers at the Central Breeding Laboratory, Winnipeg, and the Experimental Station, Lethbridge, Alta., are carrying out the work, he said.

Developed at the University of Minnesota and first distributed in Western Canada in 1936, Thatcher quickly gained popularity because of its resistance to then-prevalent races of rust and smut, its high quality, excellent yield, early maturity and wide-growing scope.

By 1939 it became the dominant variety seeded in Western Canada, a position it still holds despite the 1954 attack by Race 15B rust. In all but three years since 1932, it has accounted for more wheat acreage than all other varieties combined. In 1957, Thatcher was sown to 8,891,000 acres, 43.2 per cent of Western Canada's wheat acreage.

AFFECTED AREA
In 1954 Race 15B rust was most serious in Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan. The sawfly is found in southern Saskatchewan and southern and central Alberta.

Rust—a wind-borne fungus—affects the wheat plant by attaching itself to the stem and sucking in the nutrition that otherwise would reach and develop kernels.

The sawfly lays eggs in the wheat stem. When the grub hatches it feeds on the plant and finally travels down the stem and cuts it off near the roots. Varieties such as Thatcher, which have a hollow stem, are particularly susceptible to the sawfly.

In an interview, Prof. Jenkins said, pathologists at Winnipeg and Lethbridge are attempting to cross Thatcher with rust-resistant and sawfly-resistant varieties.

HALE THE BATTLE
"If they are successful, half the battle is won. Farmers will then have to decide whether or not to use Thatcher, and considering its good reputation there is little doubt they will," he said.

Thatcher now is most popular in northern Alberta and Saskatchewan where frost is a bigger problem than either rust or sawfly, he said. If Thatcher is given rust and sawfly protection it may well extend its dominance to the remainder of the Prairies because it out-yields all other varieties.

The appearance of Thatcher was as great a milestone in western Canadian wheat production as the introduction of Marquis wheat, Prof. Jenkins said.

"It matured earlier and even in rust-free areas out-yielded Marquis, the variety which made widespread production of wheat possible in Western Canada."

RESISTS RUST
Selkirk wheat, developed at the Central Breeding Laboratory here and released for seeding in 1954, is capable of resisting Race 15B rust.

New races capable of attacking Selkirk have been discovered but their incidence has been low.

Tests by the Central Breeding Laboratory also revealed Thatcher will out-yield Selkirk in all areas in dry years and in all but the rust areas in wet years.

Prof. Jenkins said this is one reason why farmers have continued to use Thatcher and will do so to a greater extent if a variety is produced that will resist rust and the sawfly.

SPORT SNAPSHOTS

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Figuring football teams' performances is a hazardous occupation at the best of times. A team may be practically knocked out of the park one day and a week or so later reverse the decision.

But try to understand what makes people go to games, especially when they involve Toronto Argonauts or British Columbia Lions. This season, as in the last few years, they've been busts on the field but big box-office hits in their own stadiums.

Those two clubs, as any football fan knows, can find more ways to lose a game than any in the country. They fumble, miss assignments, have passes intercepted and show little sustained offensive power, bring in reinforcements in wholesale lots, and send their fans home game after game mumbling to themselves.

FAITHFUL FANS

But these last-place clubs—Argonauts in the Big Four with one victory in seven outings and Lions in the Western Conference with a big zero in the win column in 10 starts—draw the fans as if they were Grey Cup contenders.

The cash rolls in, enough to bring chuckles to Managing Director Lew Hayman of Argonauts and General Manager Herb Coozzy of the Lions, but they're a couple of sad sacks when they look at the standings.

Take the case of Argonauts, at one time known as the New York Yankees of Canada—a team that in past years was the top dog in Canadian football. Now, some of the Toronto sports writers are asking embarrassing questions, particularly concerning the ability of coach Hamp Pool.

Argonauts' lone win was a 15-14 thriller at home over Montreal Alouettes on Aug. 22 before 19,497 fans. Since then, they've lost five straight and their home-crowd figures have risen.

On Friday night, Sept. 5, against the league-leading Hamilton Tiger-Cats, 26,781 persons crowded into Varsity Stadium. There were only 30 vacant seats and the crowd figure was the largest in years with the exception of Grey Cup finals.

Their next home appearance was against Ottawa Rough Riders Sept. 20 and a crowd of 20,158 sat on their hands. It was the dulllest game of the year as both clubs blew scoring chances.

Hayman's club, with an average 22,148 Varsity Stadium attendance figure so far this year, makes its fourth appearance this Saturday. And it might even do okay at the gate because Hayman dropped a teaser early in the week when he said he wouldn't trade his squad of 30 odd players for the Alouette or Rough Rider teams. Fans in large numbers might be curious enough to decide that for themselves.

LIONS ROAR AT GATE

Now the Lions. Their coaches and management have, at times, taken a fearful beating from the football writers but that doesn't stop crowds from beating their way to Empire Stadium, the largest park in the country and scene of this year's Grey Cup final.

The Lions have played five home games so far this year before a total of 124,158 persons. That averages out at 24,832 a game, the best in the country, and a figure that makes other club officials drool.

Attendance figures have steadily decreased since Lions opened the season at home before 30,468 fans, the largest crowd for a league game at Empire Stadium since Aug. 27, 1956. Last Monday, when they lost their 10th straight—22-6 to Saskatchewan Roughriders—only 20,226 persons watched the proceedings.

So he's been working six and seven days a week on locations all over the world, and making millions.

Tenor From Prairies Takes Part In Recital At London

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.)
Correspondent For The Kelowna Daily Courier

LONDON — Joseph Rouleau, native of Matane, Quebec, and probably the greatest bass singer to come out of Canada, scored a notable artistic success in his London debut, made in a recital at Wigmore Hall. This young singer, who started out as a student at the University of Montreal to become an economist, and who is soon to appear at the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, received rare notices from the London critics. One of them, in the Daily Telegraph, has this to say about his recital:

"The three graphic songs which make up Ravel's 'Don Quichotte a Dulcine' are among music's rarities. It was therefore a real pleasure to hear them sung with artistry and subtlety by Joseph Rouleau, the Canadian bass from Covent Garden who appeared at Wigmore Hall last night. Mr. Rouleau has a dark mellow voice and an exceptional flexibility in the high register. He is also a master of the art of 'mezza voce'. He was convincing in Dvorak's ten biblical songs, sung to Astra Desmond's faithful translations."

London, Rouleau has the role of the monk Pimen. It was in 1949 that Rouleau started his musical career when he won an award of $100 in the Archambault contest in Quebec. The next year he graduated from the Quebec Music Academy, toured Canada and was awarded a scholarship which gave him two and a half years of study in Italy with the renowned Rachaelle Mori.

Rouleau returned to Canada in 1954, and was successful in television, opera and on concert tours. In 1955 he was the only bass from all North America to sing with the Experimental Opera Theatre of America. He made his United States debut in "La Boheme" as Colline. He also appeared several times with the New Orleans Opera Company.

When Covent Garden representative was in Canada about two years ago, Mr. Rouleau was one of the successful singers chosen to come to England. Now, after his successful debut as a concert singer, he is looking forward to his operatic debut in England at the Leeds Festival and Covent Garden.

MARINES DEPART

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The last United States marine battalion in Lebanon sailed early today for a rendezvous with the U.S. 6th fleet. Their departure left slightly fewer than 7,500 U.S. troops in Lebanon. U.S. Ambassador Robert McClintock said these forces will be leaving fairly soon.

TORONTO (CP) — Carl Brown, 19, and brother Fred, 18, fought off an attacking fox Tuesday at Summit Golf Club near suburban Richmond Hill and killed it with a lawn edger. The animal, believed rabid, rushed at their legs.

Ex-CNS Ships Will Employ Canadians—Pay 20% More

HALIFAX (CP) — Nearly 15 months after it struck the Canadian National Steamships West Indies fleet, the Seafarers International Union (CLC) may have got what it wants. Halifax business agent Stan Devine said Tuesday the eight former CNS ships now owned in Cuba will again fly the Canadian flag and be manned by Canadian seamen, earning 20 per cent more than they did when they struck in July, 1957.

"Now we're getting what we wanted in the first place," he said.

CREAM REMAINS

Let's set them straight. Raw milk and whole pasteurized milk have the same fat content. The cream is not moved in pasteurized milk, neither is it removed in homogenized milk.

Homogenized milk, of course, is whole milk in which the fat particles have been broken into small globules that are unable to rise to the top of the container as "cream." Instead, they remain distributed evenly throughout the milk. While this may seem to make homogenized milk richer, the fat content remains the same.

DESIGN NEW NUCLEAR REACTOR

Twelve Canadian engineers have designed a new nuclear reactor that may put Canada well ahead in the atom-for-peace race. Winnifred Boyd, chief designer of Avro's "Chinook" and "Oranda" jet engines, headed the team. The reactor will power a steam generator for the production of electricity. It needs only an initial supply of enriched uranium which can be imported. It eliminates the importing of costly zirconium and "heavy water" from the U.S., which made former reactors so expensive for Canada to produce. Costs will be 25 per cent less to build and it is believed the device could be constructed within five years.

Independence Catches Guinea Flatfooted—Seek Dominion Role

PARIS (AP) — Another new country took its place on the map public under the constitution today as French sovereignty of Empire except Guinea. De Gaulle's cabinet in Guinea, a West African Negro nation.

Guinea became independent at midnight Tuesday, pending the stroke of midnight Tuesday. But no new flag flies in Conakry, the capital of a coastal country that does not want to be isolated half way between West Africa's Dakar and Liberia. The swift consequences of last Sunday's constitutional referendum caught Guinea Premier Sekou Toure's regime flatfooted. DE GAULLE BUSY

Old Tales About Milk Completely Debunked

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Will drinking milk while eating oysters or fish poison a person? How about a combination of milk and spinach, milk and lemons or milk taken with tomatoes?

In this enlightened age, it is difficult to realize that some persons still think such combinations of food and drink are poisonous. If you can eat foods separately, you can eat them together without harm.

BEFORE REFRIGERATION

I suppose the tale about fish and milk being a sickening combination began before the days of refrigeration. Then, a person might have eaten fish that was not fresh and might have happened to drink milk at the same meal.

You only have to use a bit of logic to see how silly this idea of fish and milk being poisonous really is. After all, oyster stew and fish chowder are both made with milk. Many persons also eat fish with cream sauce.

OTHER MISCONCEPTIONS

There also are many other misconceptions about milk. Some persons believe milk is constipating. Again, this is a fallacy.

Milk, in itself, is not constipating. However, a person who drinks abnormally large quantities of milk may not eat enough bulk foods to supply the needed requirements. If a constipated person gets enough crude fiber from his other foods, it is perfectly all right for him to drink milk.

Many persons have misconceptions about pasteurized and homogenized milk.

For example, they may think that the cream is removed from pasteurized milk. Or they may believe that homogenized milk contains more cream than whole milk or that it contains no fat.

Opening lead—king of clubs.

Endplays seldom come about of their own volition. They are practically always the product of a player's declarer organizes and executes. Here is an interesting example of a planned endplay.

West led the king of clubs and continued with a club which South ruffed. Declarer's problem was to avoid the loss of both a spade and a heart. He could afford to lose one but not the other.

The situation suggested the possibility of an endplay. Declarer had to play on the basis that East had the queen of hearts, a spade throw-in would have brought East because if West had it the contract was sure to make by finessing the jack.

Acting on this assumption, therefore, South cashed the ace of diamonds and led a diamond to the jack. Dummy's last club was ruffed as a first step in trying to avoid a heart finesse.

Declarer then led the queen of spades and finessed it when West played low.

The next play was the crucial one. If South had made the error of continuing with a low spade he would have been defeated. But both the bidding and play had marked West with the king of spades.

The aim was to arrange, if possible, to throw East in with a spade in order to force a heart lead into dummy's A-K-J. This could not be done so long as West had the king of spades.

To force this card from West's hand South now led the jack of spades. The play did not constitute a finesse, since declarer was lacking the ten. West had to cover with the king, otherwise declarer would have led the jack and made the hand at once.

The power of the play became manifest when East had to win the nine of spades return with the ten. He was forced either to lead a heart or give declarer a ruff-card.

The same result would have been achieved had West covered the queen of spades. After cashing the ace and jack, a spade throw-in would have brought East to the same endplay position.
